

Door open to national fraternities, sororities

Advantages are predicted

"The door of the campus is open to national fraternities and sororities," President Milo Bail said last week.
His statement was made in connection with the news of an affiliation of Pi Omega Pi with the national sorority Chi Omega.
President Bail predicted that the national affiliations would offer great advantages to the present groups on the campus.
"But if there are to be advantages then there must be responsibilities," he continued.

Leadership Needed
More leadership on the campus would have to be undertaken by the groups with national affiliations, Bail said.
"Opening the door to national groups does not necessarily mean they will come to the campus," Bail continued. The university and the groups wishing to affiliate would have to be investigated and approved by the nationals before any actual affiliation could take place, he added.

First news of more possible national affiliations came at a Board of Regents meeting Thursday.
At the meeting President Bail also said the University is planning a "Vocations Day" this spring. Local professions and industries will be invited to have displays of their work and opportunities.

Traffic Light Wanted
The regents also adopted a resolution requesting action from the City Council to have a stop-and-go traffic system installed at the Dodge Street entrance to the University.

Charles Hoff, finance secretary, was authorized to invest 100 thousand dollars of "idle" money in Government obligations.

Rules were amended to increase the maximum guarantee to football teams for one entire season from three to four thousand dollars.

Juniors to cast ballots tomorrow

Juniors will have a chance to vote tomorrow on the class activity they wish to sponsor. Voting will be held in front of the student lounge.

The Faculty Committee on Student Affairs turned down the idea of a Junior Prom open to all classes last week on the basis that it would not directly benefit the junior class.

An activity open to the whole school would not, says the committee, serve the original idea of molding the class into a unified group.

"Several alternatives have been offered," said Robert Rumery, junior class president. Among the suggestions made: a class breakfast; tea dance for either juniors alone, or for seniors also; talent show convocation; junior prom for juniors only, or with seniors too; a box social and barn dance for juniors alone, or with seniors too.

Space will also be open on the ballots for any suggestions the class members may have to offer.

Cash over tummy say Fear, Moore

"Starving isn't so bad when you're getting paid for it."

That's what two OU students, Tom Moore and Bill Fear, said about modeling as customers aboard a Union Pacific Railroad dining car.

The 23 assorted male and female models were required to smile while pretending to eat delicious looking inch-thick steaks or large lamb chops.

"We couldn't even touch the food, declared Fear, "All we could do was look at it."

All of the models received regular model's wages.

"For five dollars an hour, I'd put a silver dollar in my mouth and swim across the Potomac," said Moore.

Creighton game price is 60 cents

Upon presentation of a day school activity card, Omaha U students will be admitted to the Thursday night Creighton game for 60 cents.

This is Creighton's home game and athletic booklets will not admit OU students. A block of seats will be reserved for our students. The preliminary game begins at 6:30 and the Varsity tilt starts at 8:30.

General admission is $1.75 and $1.25. Tickets may be purchased at the Bluejay athletic office or at Beaton's (downtown) drug store.

President Bail and Athletic Director Virg Kelkin have stressed once again that "we are the visiting team and are expected to act in a courteous and sportsmanlike manner."

Convo film scheduled

The French film "Crime and Punishment" will be shown Tuesday in the auditorium. It is the second of a series of convocation movies.

Directed by Pierce Chenal, this film version of Dostoyevsky's psychoanalytical novel stars Pierre Blanchard and Harry Bauer.

Classes will not be dismissed.

Critic teachers are Coffee Hour guests

A Coffee Hour for last semester's critic teachers will be held Wednesday at 4:30 in the auditorium.

The critic teachers are those who have helped in criticizing the OU student practice teachers.

Guests will include, principles of the grade and high schools taking part in the program, supervisors and superintendents of schools, and the Department of Education faculty at OU.

Dr. Frank H. Gorman, head of the Education Department, is in charge of arrangements.

Song search ends Thursday morning

'Speed and movement in Archipenko's work'

The speed and movement of the twentieth century is expressed in the sculpturing of Archibald Archipenko.

That is the belief of Mrs. Bertha C. Koch, head of the Art Department. Photographs of Archipenko's works are hung in the west wing of third floor.

Archipenko feels that motion should express a body which is actually moving, not merely posing as movement, according to Dr. Koch. He achieves this effect by convex and concave surfaces and integrated relationships in line.

Working with new media such as plastics, Archipenko's technique has been compared to Picasso's method of painting.

Along with the photographs, the showing includes two plastic statues done in 1948 which are lighted from the inside. One of these is in the showcase on second floor, the other in Dr. Koch's office.

The Art Department plans to invite the public schools to the exhibit.

New chem lab to be shown

The Chemistry Department will hold an open house tomorrow to show their new lab to the faculty and students.

The lab, which is located in room 441, is for advanced chemistry students. It has been in use since the beginning of this semester.

Paul J. Stageman, chemistry instructor, has designed the lab especially to fit the room. He has given special emphasis to functional utility.

The Chemistry Department cordially invites the faculty and the students to see this modern and fully equipped lab.

Five entries will face convo test

Thursday morning the year-old search for a pep song will be ended.

Students will meet at 9:30 in the auditorium to pick the winner of the fight song contest.

Time for the convocation will be obtained by shortening morning classes 15 minutes each as was done for last week's convocation. New class times are 8, 8:45, 10:30 and 11:15 for 8, 9 10th and 11 o'clock classes respectively.

Five songs, chosen by an Alumni Association and Music Department judging committee, will be acted upon at the joint convocation and pep rally. The purpose of the pep rally, sponsored by the Inter-Pep Council, is to drum up enthusiasm for the Creighton game Thursday night.

Lloyd Metheny, chairman of the Student Council Convocation Committee, has announced that each song will be played by the university band and sung by the chorus. Students will then have a chance to sing the songs, too, from mimeographed copies passed out to them.

Three of the compositions will be eliminated by applause and the two remaining will be submitted to a vote.

The songs were arranged for the band by V. J. Kennedy, assistant professor of music. Composers are Sears Nelson, B. V. Pawloski, Ollie Joiner, Al Marsh and "Anonymous."

In line with The Gateway's policy of making this newspaper more interesting to student readers, a new feature has been added.

A new column, Outside MUD, gives a resume of student news from other colleges around the nation. See page 2.

One hour not enough for coffee, 'debating'

An after-Coffee-Hour "debate" convinced Captain Michael Fielding, lecturer at last week's convocation and Institute on World Affairs, that OU students are the most outstanding college group he has ever lectured before.

The 3 to 4 o'clock limit on the student lounge was not enough for 14 to 16 enthusiasts, so they adjourned to the office of Dr. Wilfred Payne, head of the Humanities Department.

"They filled the office and were spilling out into the hall," was the report of Dr. Payne. "Captain Fielding was delighted at the enthusiasm."

"He made quite an impression on the students because he was so candid. He never backed away from any question."

Preceding the post-session, Fielding answered questions of the coffee drinkers and a student panel composed of Eileen Wolfe, Fred Scheuermann and Bill Spickerman.

The noted military and political analyst had only one statement to make when he was forced to leave at 5.

Local glamour to vie for titles in Tomahawk beauty test Friday

If you have personality, poise, appearance, charm and beauty and belong to that exclusive organization known as the "Weaker Sex," your chances of winning the annual Tomahawk Beauty Contest are good.

These are the traits which the beauty judges will be looking for when they view the 57 OU coeds Friday afternoon from 2 till 4 in the auditorium.

The judges, Tex Beneke, orchestra leader; Mrs. Glen Cunningham, wife of Omaha's mayor; and Harry Bruner, sales manager for Coca-Cola, will pick the first, second and third place winners.

Entrants must be backstage in the auditorium Friday afternoon at 1:45, dressed in street length dresses. Rehearsals for the contest will be held in the auditorium Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 2 till 4.

Today is the deadline for entrants, according to Judy Rutherford, editor of the Tomahawk, who is in charge of arrangements.

To date 57 names have been received. Latest candidates are: Shirley Alberti, Pat Bracken, Betty Cimino, Lorraine Connolly, Phyllis Earp, Joanne Franco, Helen Kellman, Mary Clair McBride, Bert Muir, Susie Nelson, Yvonne Ortiz, Irene Squire, Mary Ellen Uphoff, Ginny Walters.

Final World Affairs talk by NU chancellor

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson of the University of Nebraska will speak on "Scandinavia and the Reconstruction of Europe" at the closing session of the Institute on World Affairs in the faculty club-room Thursday evening.

The speaker recently returned from a visit to the Scandinavian countries.

Gustavson holds a master's degree from the University of Chicago. He has been conferred honorary degrees by four colleges.

Dr. Gustavson acted as liaison officer for the University of Chicago and the War Department on operations of the Argonne National Laboratory during the last war. This was the laboratory that concluded the work on the atomic bomb.

Helgesen, OU frosh, is new radio disc jockey

"Out of the Siberian salt mines comes Tex Beneke playing 'Meadowlands.'"

It's the voice of Wayne Helgesen as he waxes casually, sentimentally or otherwise on his new KFAB disc jockey show.

Helgesen, first semester freshman at OU, started his disc spinning Saturday morning at 9:30. The title of the show was the biggest problem of all, the new jockey said. Finally he settled on "Wayne's Wax Works."

With a long-standing interest in dramatics and speech, Helgesen recently played the part of Nels Hansen in "I remember Mama" at the Community Playhouse. His last high school dramatic lead was in Central High's "The Man Who Came to Dinner" last fall.

"It's a lot harder to write a radio script than it seems," Helgesen commented. "I don't expect people to roll with laughter, but I hope someone will get a kick out of it."

Lincoln trip scheduled for OU debate teams

Two teams from Omaha U will journey to Lincoln for the Nebraska U debate tourney Friday and Saturday, according to Lloyd Shubert, head of the Speech Department.

The teams of Marjory Mahoney and Fred Scheuermann, and Eugene Step and John Madden will argue both the pros and cons of federal aid to education.

Speech students will also be entered in oratory, newscasting and extemporaneous speaking. Names of these students will be announced tomorrow.

After the Nebraska University competition, the debaters will enter the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association tourney to be held at Kearney.

Present plans are to take two teams: Robert Neujahr and Gerald Roitstein, and Eileen Wolfe and

"Marriage and Courtship"

(ACP)—"Nothing determines the degree of success in courtship and marriage more than emotional maturity," said a lecturer on "Marriage and Courtship" at Brown University.

Dr. Vera Behrendt gave several rules for judging a person's emotional maturity.

"The capability to give affection and love to another individual" was mentioned as one. The emotionally immature person shies away from making any deep emotional attachments.

In a girl, she said, this shows in the form of collecting boy friends much as an Indian collects scalps; in a boy, it is seen in the guy who always tries to date a much sought-after girl.

Another important criterion of emotional maturity is that of various types of emotional response, the lack of which is shown in the child's temper tantrums. A shortcoming in the adult results in the over-aggressive person who lacks control, and the person who controls himself to too great a degree—the over-sweet individual.

"Ah, sweet mystery..."

The wonderful love of a beautiful maid,

The love of a staunch, true man, And the love of a baby, unafraid, Have existed since life began.

But the greatest love—the love of loves

Even greater than that of a mother,

Is the tender, passionate, infinite love

Of one drunken bum for another.

Yo-yo's taboo with coeds

Dirty fingernails and conceit run neck and neck at the top of the list of what University of Miami coeds dislike most in men.

"God's gift to women," and he who "constantly tries to prove he's a college yo-yo," draw a definite sneer from the coeds' lips. Dirty and bitten-down fingernails not only bring a hoot—"They are strictly repulsive," according to the long-nailed women.

Hisses also go out for "men who can't stop talking about how much money they spend, and who boast, generally, about every phase of their lives."

Vulgar language, sloppy dressers and men needing a shave come high on the list of dislikes. Cigars, beards, suspenders and mustaches are generally condemned. Bad manners, table or otherwise, are unappreciated by the gals. The "overbearing" temperamental male is very hard to endure," said one of the women.

Sarcastic men, loud men, lazy men and those with shallow, insensitive natures are among the banned.

But, male superiority complexes still lead the feminine gripe list, as shown by "the kind of boy who thinks he's superior in intellectual ability to the female—tells you what to wear, criticizes every little thing about you, insists on choosing the evening's entertainment."

Great day

The surest way to make an early class on time has been discovered by a Wayne State Teachers College student.

He uses two alarm clocks, one set at 6:32 a.m., and the other at 6:32½. So far, he hasn't been able to synchronize the clocks. Every morning his roommates must either listen to an ear-searing clanging that lasts until 6:35, or get him out of bed.

They pounce upon him with shoes, books and ashtrays. By the time the barrage lets up, he's sorry he ever went to bed, but he's also ready for the early class.

OU faces Creighton in convo debate today

Omaha University debaters are taking on a Creighton team in this morning's debate convocation in the auditorium.

Robert Neujahr and Gerald Roitstein are arguing in favor of the proposed federal aid to education against John English and Martin Cannon of Creighton.

Since Creighton has only recently organized a debate squad, this convocation is the first of its kind at Omaha U. Eight and nine o'clock classes have been shortened, and students have been dismissed for the 9:30 convocation.

"Although Creighton is just beginning to enter debate competition, I expect the speakers from that school to be good and they should provide strong opposition for our team," Lloyd Shubert, Speech Department head, predicted.

Minister speaks to Town and Gown Club

"Religious Concepts, Ancient and Modern" was the subject of a speech by the Rev. W. P. Smith Thursday. He spoke before the Town and Gown Club in the faculty clubroom.

Rev. Smith heads one of the largest Presbyterian churches in the United States.

Freshmen have another vote

Another election is going to hit the freshman class.

This was decided during the regular Student Council meeting Friday afternoon.

The election will be held to fill semester posts vacated by Vice President Bill Saalfeld and Councilman Lenard Best. Further information as to dates and petitions will be announced later.

Council members also learned that their appeal for pencil sharpeners had been approved by the business office. A letter from Charles Hoff, finance secretary, reported that six more sharpeners had been ordered and will be put up in the near future.

Hoff added that the council's recommendation for more shelves in the ladies' restrooms had been approved. Friday found new shelves on both first and second floors.

Reports also came from chairman of the Budget Committee, Gene Hampton, and Spring Formal Committee Chairman, Ruth Jorgensen. Because all department estimates have not yet been turned in, budget allotment decisions were postponed until the next meeting.

Miss Jorgensen announced that plans for the Spring Formal were almost completed.

Registration reveals drop for second term

The second semester enrollment is down five per cent from last term. This was learned from a report by Registrar Alice Smith to the Board of Regents last Thursday.

Present enrollment is set at 1,820 in day school and 1,620 in night school. Veterans at the university number 1,000 as compared with 1,200 attending last semester.

According to President Milo Bail, the drop in registration is not as great as was expected. There are usually 10 to 15 per cent less students attending the university the second semester than enrolled the first term.

Lois Brady. Other students will be entered in special events.

Mr. Shubert, executive secretary of the forensic association, will set up and operate the tournament.

Doane tonight; Creighton quintet Thursday

Indian squad plans to upset crosstown rivals in cage tilt

Potent Tigers pose problem to Bluejay-minded Pflasterer men

Fan interest at fever pitch for Blues game

By John Duncan
Gateway Sports Editor

Let's shatter the Bluejay myth! Thursday night Omaha University's cagers tackle the Creighton Bluejays in their gym at 8.

This is the game of the year. This is the game that the Indians must win. This is the game that the Indians will win. Score comparisons, previous won-lost records mean nothing to the final outcome in this intercity rivalry.

Since resuming basketball in 1945, Omaha U has lost all four contests against their crosstown rivals. In the 1945-46 campaign the Bluejays won, 48-17 and 36-27.

During the 1946-47 season Creighton won the lone tilt, 48-37. Last season they triumphed again, 48-37.

Thursday night, Coach Don Pflasterer's squad is not only going to avenge last year's defeat, but also all previous defeats. The Indians are in their top form of the season and will come through with a victory and their most successful season since the resumption of the cage sport.

To date Coach Duce "Eddie Hickey's Zone" Belford's crew has been beaten by Illinois, 96-30, Kansas, 79-50, Iowa, 77-38, Wisconsin, 75-39, Drake, 63-36, and Washington U of St. Louis, 60-51 and 54-39.

The Hawkeyes were pressed earlier this season to defeat OU, 64-44. The score at halftime was 27-25 in favor of the Iowans.

But, as was stated above in this story, score comparisons mean nothing—the Bluejays, despite heavy losses, must be rated on an equal basis with the Pflasterermen.

Secrecy has shrouded Indian practice grounds all week. Coach Pflasterer is keeping his starting lineup and type of defense for the Blues tilt under his hat.

Improving Crete club faces home five at 8

By Bob McNutt,
Ass't. Sports Editor

Omaha University will face one of the toughest members of the Nebraska College Conference tonight when they meet Doane College of Crete, Nebr., on the Tech court.

The Indians squeezed past the Tigers in a 53-52 overtime thriller earlier in the season.

Until recently it appeared that the Tigers would be lucky to finish with a mediocre season. However, lately the Tigers have suddenly caught fire and in the past week they have registered two upsets.

Antelopes stunned

Thursday the Crete club stunned the second place Kearney Antelopes, 58-42. Last Tuesday they defeated George Gribble and his Midland mates. Tight defensive work held high-scoring George to nine points.

Including the Midland game, Doane owns a conference offensive record of 48.2 points per game and a defensive average of 52.0. Saturday night, the Tigers lost to Peru in the Auburn gym.

Coach Don Pflasterer's main problem tonight will probably be that of keeping his player's minds on the Doane game. He may have to use blinders to keep the squad from looking ahead to Thursday's scrap with the Bluejays.

Dons troublesome

Two Dons may give the Indians some trouble. Center Don Erickson and Forward Don Dutcher have paced their team in the point making department all season and almost upset the Omahans in the first game at Crete.

Coach Pflasterer will probably start Ray Schmidt and Glen Richter at forward, Guy Oberg at center and Archie Arvin and Joe Arenas at guard.

Brocksters face two rugged tilts

Coach Charlie Brock's Papoose cagers will put their gaudy record on the block this week. They meet Doane and Creighton B squads in the toughest assignments of the season for the Omahans.

Revenge will be the young Indians incentive tonight when they take the floor against the Tigers from Crete, Nebr., at Tech High. The Doane quint spanked the Indians, 45-37, in the Omahans' opening tilt. But the Brockmen have rolled to 11 straight wins since then and should enter the game heavy favorites tonight.

On Thursday night they meet Creighton B at Creighton in the season's finale for the OU squad. The Red and Black emerged a 32-26 victor in their first meeting at Tech High, but the going will be rougher on the larger Creighton floor.

A bright spot in Papoose hopes for victory tonight and Thursday is the vastly improved play of Dick Nelson. Nelson has shown himself to be a dangerous man on both offense and defense in the last three games.

Central upsets Outstate, 28-25

Bob Hamlin's nine points paced Central to a 28-25 win over Outstate in an intramural basketball game last week.

Central, in winning, did what most teams have failed to do this year. They held Outstate's high scoring forward, Newell Breyfogle, in check.

Breyfogle was held to a pair of field goals but still managed to pick up nine points by dropping in five free throws. The Outstate leader maintains a 16 point average.

Jack Lacy contributed to his team's victory by gathering in seven points and playing a fine defensive game.

In the other game played last week, Alpha Sigs shot by a weak Theta five, 24-5.

The losers scored only one field goal in the entire game.

It was strictly no contest as the undefeated Alpha Sig squad took a 15-2 half time lead and was never threatened by the ice cold Theta shooters.

Shires and Thompson scored 8 points apiece for the winners.

Second position rides on Omaha-Russell tilt

Amateur Hockey Standings
	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Falstaff	6	3	1	13
Omaha U.	5	4	1	11
Russells	4	5	1	9
Harveys	3	6	1	7

OU's hockey squad will be out to snap a two game losing streak tomorrow night when they face off against Russells at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum.

The hard skating Indians will have to win tomorrow night or at least tie to keep sole possession of second place. An Omaha win coupled with a Falstaff loss would deadlock the Omahans in a first place tie with the Brewers.

Indians scare Morningside before losing, 58-55; Oberg tallies 16

Omaha University's basketball team fashioned their mystery zone against Morningside Friday night and almost turned in their second major upset of the week.

The Pflasterermen played even-stein with the high scoring Sioux City quintet before faltering in the waning moments for a 58-55 reversal.

If the Maroons had ideas of whipping the Omahans by 30 points again, their hopes were soon dampened.

While center Guy Oberg covered the Iowans hot shot scorer Dick Wiedenfeld, Archie Arvin and Don Fitch outthrustled their opponents for the rebounds. Only the accurate shooting of Morningside's reserve forward, Bob Norris, held OU to a 28-27 halftime deficit.

Oberg Fouls Out
Wiedenfeld spurted for three quick baskets in the third quarter before Oberg replaced the shackles. However, Oberg fouled out early in the fourth quarter and with him went the Indians' chances.

With the Indians trailing by three points in the final moments Arvin and Arenas tossed up good shots but the efforts rimmed the basket and rolled out.

Oberg led his mates with 16 points.

A rejuvenated Harvey crew chilled the Indian's chances of a first place tie last week by turning back the Omahans 4-2 for their third straight win.

The Harvey pucksters capitalized on a one man advantage to slap two goals past Whitey Jones in less than a minute to break a 2-2 deadlock late in the third period. Jim Wharton was serving five minutes in the sinbin for fighting at the time.

Harvey's drew first blood in the encounter, having a 2-0 lead before Jim Wharton scored the first of his two unassisted goals for the Indians in the middle period.

Track roster posted

All university track candidates are urged to sign the list in the men's locker room as soon as possible.

Pre-Meds meet today

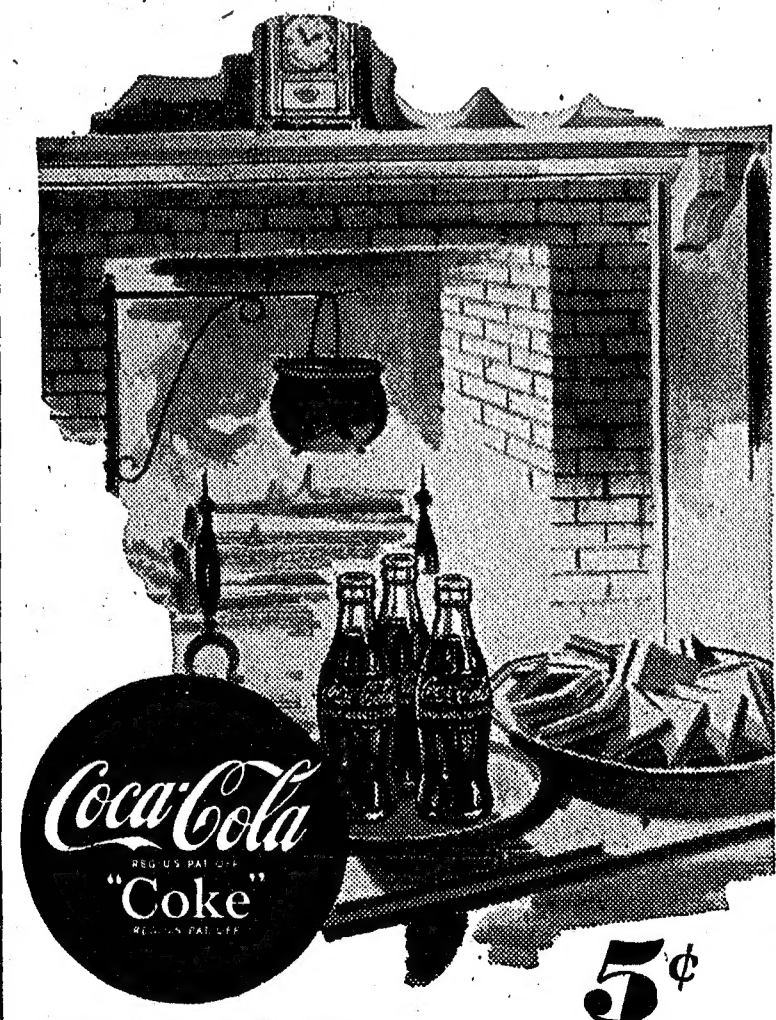

The pre-Med Club will meet at 5 p.m. today in room 203 to hear an address by Dr. B. L. Lynch, assistant dean of the Creighton School of Dentistry.

His talk will concern problems of interest to both pre-med and pre-dentistry students.

Glen Richter jumps high in the air to swish one of his four baskets as two Morningside defenders try to stop the point making effort. Archie Arvin (23) moves in for possible rebound followed by two more Maroon squadmen. Morningside won the tilt, 58-55. photo by Dick Orr

Pi O's affiliate with Chi Omega in April

OU's first national social sorority will be installed in April. Pi Omega Pi, local sorority, will affiliate with Chi Omega the week end of April 1 to 3.

Pledging ceremonies will be held Friday night at the university, with a national officer present. Tentative plans are being discussed for a buffet supper following the rite.

The girls will be initiated and the group installed on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Elizabeth Dyer, national vice president, will officiate.

A banquet is scheduled for the Fontenelle Hotel after the ceremonies.

The new Chi Omega chapter will entertain at a tea Sunday afternoon. Guests will be the OU president and faculty, representatives of the Pan Hellenic Council and of other sororities on the campus.

Bettie N. Blissard is Saturday bride

All Saints Episcopal Church was the scene of the wedding of Bettie Nell Blissard to Warren V. Vickery Saturday. The afternoon ceremony was performed by the Reverend Gordon B. Galaty.

The bride wore a navy crepe afternoon dress with matching accessories. Her navy straw sailor hat was accented by a white veil trimming. She carried white roses on a white Bible.

Sherry Selders was maid of honor and Stuart Borg best man. Mrs.

Richard Marks was bridesmaid, and Robert Estabrook ushered.

The wedding reception was at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Warren Vickery . . . in ceremony at All Saints Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Blissard.

The couple will live in Omaha where they attend the university. Mrs. Vickery, a senior, is a member of Sigma Chi Omicron. Vickory, son of Mrs. Warren Vickery, is a 1948 graduate and was affiliated with Alpha Sigma Lambda. He is studying for his master's degree.

Sociology students told of 'Alaskan life

Alaska, its people, and their way of life was discussed by Dr. Victor Levine, of the U. S. Health Department, and Creighton School of Medicine, at an Alpha Kappa Delta meeting Wednesday.

Dr. Levine told of his experiences in Alaskan expeditions before the war and in the army there during the war.

The meeting of the national honorary sociological fraternity was held at the home of Mrs. Mabel Carlson. Mrs. Nell Boyer and Margaret Treadwell were co-hostesses.

Square dancing hits campus thru WAA

Square dancing has become a participation sport.

Even though there may not be any referees, coaches, or cheering crowds, the girls in W.A.A. are anxious to conquer the art of square dancing. They meet on Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 8 in the hut to pick up the fundamentals.

W.A.A. President Jean Bressler invites all girls interested in W.A.A. and the square dancing classes to join the association. Faculty women who have free Thursday nights have also been invited.

Social Register

Spring Lake Park pavilion was the scene of an informal dance Saturday for Thetas and their dates.

Movies of the fraternity were shown.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Art Heiam, Tom Slack, Philip Wellman, and Othol White.

The Phi Sigs and their dates gathered for a sweater dance last Saturday night at the Hotel Chieftain in Council Bluffs.

During the intermission the Phi Sig Four harmonized on their new frat songs which they had composed. A community sing was also held during intermission.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Chem society gives coming-of-age party

A coming-of-age party will be given by the Alpha chapter of Gamma Pi Sigma, national chemistry fraternity tomorrow. The chapter is 21 years old.

A banquet will be held at 6 p.m. in the faculty clubroom. It will be a joint meeting with the Omaha section of the American Chemistry Society.

Following the dinner, the group will adjourn to a lecture room. Dr. Harold Wittcoff, research chemist for General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis, will tell of recent advances in protective coating chemistry.

University students who received honors in chemistry last semester:
